 Joanna Krupa and Romain Zago are officially calling it quits.

 After E! News exclusively confirmed the former Real Housewives of Miami star and Zago had separated in December, Krupa and her husband of four years jointly filed for divorce on Monday.

"They just grew apart," a source previously told E! News. However, according to the insider, the two remain friends.

"Joanna and Romain successfully and amicably resolved all matters; both remain friends and desire the best for each other," a lawyer for the exes said in a statement.

The split has been relatively drama-free publicly considering they already divided up their assets privately with a Marital Settlement Agreement, per the court documents.
