

Miami Living

Search Listings

Our Communities

Client Advantages

About Us

Miami Living

Relocating to Miami? ▶

State of Market ▶

Miami News ▶

Luxury Lifestyle Blog

The Ross Report

Audrey's Black Book

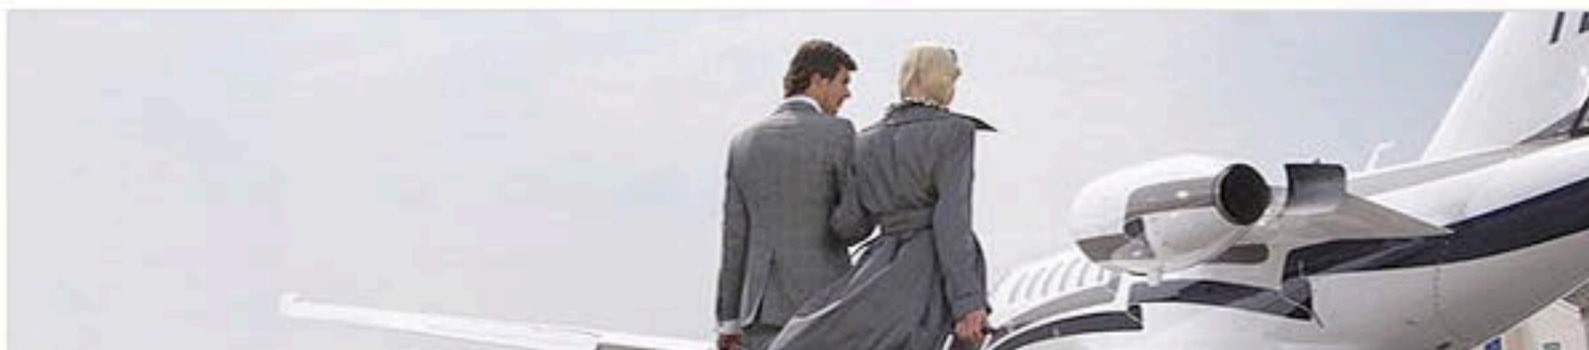

About Luxury Lifestyle Blog

The Luxury Blog is an online premier source for all things luxury. It is an ultimate guide to luxurious environment and the pursuit of an exquisite lifestyle.

Who is Audrey Ross?

Recent Posts

- Have You Always Wanted To Fly Like A Fish?
- April is Miami Golf Month
- Sunset Islands Feature The Luxury of Waterfront Properties
- Brickell Grows Again
- Exotic Luxury furnishings in the Wynwood Arts District
- Visiting the Vizcaya Museum and Gardens

Luxury Lifestyle Blog

Miami Lawyer Raymond Rafool to Duke it Out With Wrestling Star John Cena in Divorce Court Subscribe/RSS

June 11th, 2012

« Versace mansion on the Market WWDC 2012 keynote speech »

It's a good time to be a lawyer in Miami. Well, at least for one lawyer anyways. Why? Even if you're not the type of person to watch, ahem, professional wrestling – and yes, that's the World Wrestling Entertainment kind, not the Collegiate, Freestyle or Greco-Roman kind – you have probably heard the name John Cena enough to know that he is a big man in the world of WWE, both literally and figuratively. Well, apparently the superstar strong enough to throw a man over his head couldn't bring it back home, and is now filing for divorce from his wife of three years, Liz Huberdeau. So what does this have to do with being a lawyer in Miami? The not-much-longer Liz Cena hired one of Miami's most well-known divorce attorneys – Raymond Rafool.

Prospectively, it seems as if Ms. Huberdeau made a good legal choice. Mr. Rafool has already won a divorce battle with a wrestling superstar, Hulk Hogan, which finished up at the tail end of 2011 with Mr. Hogan receiving only 30% of his total married assets – his ex-wife pocketed $7.4 million in the divorce settlement. Unfortunately, Rafool's battle with John Cena will be notably more difficult because (A) him and his wife have only been married for 3 years instead of 23, and (B) because Mr. Cena had the perhaps-self-fulfilling good sense to sign a prenuptial agreement that is very strongly in his own favor. How the case will turn out only time will tell, but the time to pick sides and grab a bag of popcorn is right now!

